

24th Annual Joseph Lee Memorial Lecture
City and Gardens: Yangzhou's Cultural Development During the Qing Dynasty

Tuesday, October 24, 2017
7 p.m., 115 International Center
Dessert reception to follow

Located at the junction of the Yangtze River and the Grand Canal, Yangzhou is a famous city in China's Jiangsu Province. During the Qing Dynasty, Yangzhou was one of the economic centers of China. The city's cultural richness was evident in the bustling city and beautiful gardens. At the same time, other cultural productions were on the rise in very interesting ways, such as the publication of books, dramatic performances, and tourism.

Xu Xingwu is a professor in the School of Liberal Arts at Nanjing University. His research is focused on the history of ancient Chinese literature, thinking, and academics.

Sponsored by:

Asian Studies Center
Joseph Lee Memorial Fund
Gu Wei Hui