The Asian Studies Center at Michigan State University awards graduate and undergraduate fellowships under the Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) Fellowship program of the U.S. Department of Education.

The FLAS Fellowship program is designed to meet critical needs for specialists in American education, government, and other services of a public and/or professional nature.

FLAS Summer (SU) Fellowships

➢ Graduate and Undergraduate Students: For intensive language study* only, fellowships offer up to $5,000 for tuition and up to $2,500 as a stipend. Funds may be used for study abroad or domestically and are available for SU 2016.

FLAS Academic Year (AY) Fellowships

➢ Graduate Students: For Asian language study* and Asia area studies, fellowships offer tuition payments of up to $18,000 per academic year (AY), plus a monthly stipend totaling up to $15,000 per academic year. Funds may be used for study abroad or domestically and are available for AY 2016 – 2017.

➢ Undergraduate Students: For Asian language study* and Asia area studies, fellowships offer tuition payments up to $10,000 per academic year (AY), plus a monthly stipend totaling up to $5,000 per academic year. Funds may be used for study abroad or domestically and are available for AY 2016 – 2017.

*Graduate student Asian language learners can be at any level. Undergraduate student Asian language learners must be at the intermediate or above level with a minimum of 12 credits in an Asian language by the time the fellowship begins to be eligible.
